

Withdrawal offer update – Challenger high yield funds

23 July 2010

This document contains useful information about the withdrawal offers for the Challenger high yield funds and any action you may need to take. It's important to note that if you do not wish to make a withdrawal from your investment in the relevant Fund, you do not need to take any further action.

Overview

Whilst credit market conditions remain difficult, the outlook has improved as liquidity and appeal for credit and high yielding assets has strengthened. We continue to actively manage the Funds to their investment objectives, whilst seeking to raise liquidity where appropriate. Cash levels in the Funds are currently at a level where a meaningful withdrawal offer can again be made.

Commonly asked questions

Why did Challenger amend the withdrawal procedure for the Funds?

In the latter part of 2008, many investors reduced their exposure to managed funds (including credit and high yielding funds) and hence withdrawals increased to a level that we were unable to meet through the Funds' available sources of liquidity. As a result of these conditions, we, as responsible entity for the Funds, amended the withdrawal process in order to protect the interests of all unitholders and to ensure that all unitholders are treated equally.

Why can I only access 10% of my investment?

The Funds remain illiquid (refer to 'Overview' on page 1). We have made available a withdrawal amount that will ensure that the Funds will continue to retain sufficient liquidity subsequent to the withdrawal payment, to manage the portfolio effectively, pay out distributions and enhance our ability to make future withdrawal offers.

Will you be offering the same percentage for withdrawal every quarter?

Our ability to make future withdrawal offers depends principally on the available liquidity within the Funds which we continue to monitor. Future withdrawal offers, including the withdrawal percentage amount offered and the process for any future withdrawal offers are not guaranteed and are subject to change. If you require access to your money over the short-term we suggest you talk to your financial planner about whether you should participate in the withdrawal offer opening on 23 July 2010.

Do I need to make a withdrawal request?

No, there is no obligation for you to lodge a withdrawal request. If you do not lodge a withdrawal request, no activity will occur on your account and your unit balance will remain the same. If you are unsure about whether or not to make a withdrawal request, we recommend you seek advice from your financial planner.

Can I make a withdrawal on behalf of an Estate?

Yes. For Estate policies, the bank account provided must be in the name of the Estate, otherwise the payment will be made by cheque, payable to the Estate.

When must my withdrawal form be received?

To be considered in these withdrawal offers, your completed withdrawal form must be received by Challenger by 3pm (Sydney time) on Friday 20 August 2010.

What happens if my form is late?

We cannot accept any withdrawal requests after 3pm (Sydney time) on Friday 20 August 2010. Any requests received after this time will be returned to you and no payment will be made.

How will I know if my form has been received?

We will send you a letter acknowledging our receipt of your withdrawal request. If you do not receive a letter from us, please contact us on 13 35 66 prior to 3pm (Sydney time) on 20 August 2010. Once the withdrawal offer has closed, we will send a letter to all investors who have requested a withdrawal, advising the amount they will receive.

When will I receive the proceeds from my withdrawal?

We expect that your withdrawal payment will be paid to your nominated bank account within 10 days of the closing date of the offer.

What are the tax consequences of withdrawing money from the Funds?

We recommend you seek taxation advice regarding any withdrawal proceeds.

What happens to the other 90% of my investment?

We remain committed to the prudent management of the Funds. As such, your investment continues to be invested in a well diversified portfolio of high yielding, fixed interest and hybrid debt/equity investments with the Funds being actively managed in accordance with their investment objectives. In addition, we continue to monitor liquidity within the Funds.
